WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, July 23.-The situation on the British front is one of prepared waiting.

It is an open secret that Crown Prince Rupprecht's plans were perfected weeks ago for a drive against the British. Everything is ready, inluding great masses of storm troops, huge concentrations of artillery of all calibers, and airdromes crowded! with flying aircraft.

Rupprecht is simply waiting for the high command's cue, which doubtlessly will depend on events on the German crown prince's front. It is believed that Rupprecht actually has set the date several times. The last was timed to follow the expected succeas in the Champagne, but he was-forced to put it off again. His group of armies, however, is still intact, his reserves being only slightly cut down by Friedrich Wilhelm's demands. It is absolutely certain that the re-cent events have so lessened the confidence in Hindenburg and Luden-dorff of both the army and the folks at home that some dazzling stroke is urgently needed in the quickest pos-

Surgeons in France with the army are doing a wonderful work in recor structing the wounded soldiers, says W. Kelley Rice in an interesting letter received by his cousin, Miss Louise Kelley, 1314 Fifteenth street northwest. Rice is in the ambulance service in France with "Devereaux's Own," now in Flanders, which is coinposed of many college men and the sons of some of Washington's most prominent families. Mr. Rice is a first lieutenant. He has seen his share of service in France and writes interestingly of experiences he has gone through. "Had dinner with thirteen American
